Dear Sir:

We have been greatly interested in your letter of September 26th as it upsets history and dates back into the Dark Ages a fairly modern firm in Birmingham.

In other words, the piece, of which you sent a photograph, is nothing but a fake made for the novelty trade by a firm in Birmingham, England.

Quantities of these are sold to Armenian and Syrian Oriental stores, and great quantities are sent to Egypt to sell to tourists as ancient Egyptian coins. As a matter of fact there never was a coin that in any way resembled this piece.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
